Gujarat during the last three years by the Narcotics Control Bureau(NCB), year-wise are as under:

Sl.No.	Year	No. of cases
1.	1997	1
2.	1998	4
3.	1999	7

(b) There is no concrete evidence to indicate that Ahmedabad city is turning out to be a centre for mandrax, brown sugar and charas. However, owing to its proximity to Golden Crescent, Gujarat State is vulnerable to drug trafficking.

(c) There is no shortage of intelligence staff in this region. Apart from NCB, the State and Central Enforcement Agencies already deployed in the Gujarat State are fully empowered to enforce the provisions of NDPS Act, 1985.

(d) Significant steps taken by the Government to prevent and check drug trafficking include constant vigil, stepping up of enforcement efforts, fencing with flood lighting of Indo-Pak Border, vesting of powers under the Customs Act to the Border Security Force and Coast Guards to interdict narcotic drugs. Stringent action is taken against the arrested persons under NDPS Act, 1985.
